The Maryland Professional Development Schools (PDS) Network, a collaboration of school-university partnerships, is sponsoring the annual Professional Development Schools conference, hosted by Anne Arundel County Public Schools on Saturday, October 26, 2019 at Severna Park High School.

This year's conference is aligned with current trends in teacher preparation and will focus on renewing educator preparation through clinical partnerships. The 2018 Report of the AACTE Clinical Practice Commission proclaims what teacher educators know: "Clinical partnerships are the foundation of highly effective clinical practice". We invite you to share innovative ideas and practices resulting in beneficial outcomes for educators, teacher candidates, and P-12 students.

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Rebecca West Burns

The keynote speaker for this year's PDS Network conference will be Dr. Rebecca West Burns, an Associate Professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning at the University of South Florida. Her research and scholarship lie at the intersection of supervision, clinically based teacher education, and school-university partnerships. In particular, her research examines the clinical pedagogy used in clinical experiences, the hybrid roles needed to enact clinically based teacher education in school-university partnerships, and how supervision in school-university partnerships can develop teacher leadership capacity to renew schools and colleges of education.
