Maryland Career and Technical Education

Career and technical education (CTE) pairs academic knowledge with technical skills to prepare students for in-demand, high-skilled, and high-waged careers. The Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) partners with the Governor’s Workforce Development Board (GWDB) and representatives from industry, local school systems, and postsecondary institutions to ensure that CTE will prepare students to meet Maryland’s workforce needs.

The Maryland model for CTE includes the following:

- K-16 Career Development Framework – The Career Development Framework provides a structured and developmental approach for teaching students about the world of work. There are six career development standards: Self Awareness, Career Awareness, Career Exploration, Career Preparation, Job Seeking and Advancement, and Career Satisfaction and Transition. The standards are designed to equip students and with employability skills necessary for a successful transition into careers.
- Career Clusters – A career cluster is a group of occupations that require similar knowledge and skills. The Division of Career and College Readiness in partnership with statewide industry advisory groups identified ten career clusters that represent key workforce areas in Maryland. Each cluster contains career programs of study that allow students to apply academic content and technical skills to specific careers. CTE programs of study provide the opportunity for students to earn industry-recognized certificates, acquire college credit, and/or gain work experience.
- Career-Based Learning Experiences – CTE provides the opportunity for students to apply academic, technical, and employability skills in a work setting. Each CTE program of study provides the opportunity for students to gain career-based learning experiences through apprenticeships, internships, job-shadowing, or other career-based learning experiences.
- Integrated Instruction – CTE programs of study provide students the opportunity for real-world application of academic content knowledge and technical skills learned from a variety of courses. CTE instructors engage in rigorous professional learning experiences that support effective pedagogical practices paired with workplace learning experiences. As a result, students engage in holistic learning experiences that will prepare them for career and postsecondary success.
- Career and Technical Student Organization \(CTSO\) – CTSOs are co-curricular learning experiences that allow students to build on CTE instructional and technical content learned during the school day. Students expand their career awareness and development through participation and leadership in a CTSO.
- Accountability - The Division of Career and College Readiness monitors student performance and teacher effectiveness in all CTE programs of study. Data is used to inform decisions to improve CTE in Maryland.

Vision for Career and Technical Education in Maryland

Each student has access and the opportunity to engage in career programs of study that:

Align to high-skill, high-wage, or in-demand careers;

Lead to earning industry-recognized and/or postsecondary credentials that will allow entrance or advancement in a specific career cluster; and

Provide career-based learning experiences that require the application of academic and technical knowledge and skills in a work setting.

Division of Career and College Readiness

Alignment of Career and Technical Student Organizations to Maryland Career and Technical Education

The Strengthening Career and Technical Education for the 21st Century Act defines a CTSO as “an organization for individuals enrolled in a CTE program that engages in career and technical education learning experiences as an integral part of the instructional program.” CTSOs are co-curricular experiences that build upon content learned during the instructional day. CTSO learning experiences must directly correlate to what is taught in the classroom and must provide the opportunity for students to apply academic and technical content to career experiences.

Local school systems are expected to incorporate CTSOs as a component of a comprehensive CTE program of study. Through co-curricular activities in CTSOs, students have opportunities to participate in career development experiences, demonstrate and refine technical skills required in the CTE program of study, and exhibit leadership abilities. As such, student participation in a CTSO enhances the overall success of CTE students.

The Division of Career and College Readiness provides support for the implementation of effective CTSOs through the leadership of a CTSO State Director. The MSDE State CTSO Director serves as a liaison to the Maryland CTSO Association, which is comprised of the Board of Directors, Chapter Advisors and student membership. The State CTSO Director is responsible for coordinating MSDE-sponsored professional learning opportunities for CTSO Chapter Advisor and student leaders. The Division of Career and College Readiness in partnership with local school systems provides direct support for CTSO Teachers/Advisors and CTSO Student Officers as they work to enhance CTE student achievement. The state CTSO Director provides collaborative and administrative support for CTSOs.

In Maryland, all CTSO Associations must operate in alignment with the state policy of CTE programs. State support is provided for CTSO functions in alignment with the corresponding national CTSO and the Maryland CTSO Association. Additionally, students and teachers must adhere to the policies of their local school system as they manage a CTSO chapter and participate in school-related learning experiences.

Maryland CTSOs share the mission and purpose of the respective National Career and Technical Student Organizations. Each Maryland CTSO will be recognized or “chartered” through the Maryland State Department of Education by the respective National CTSO. As such, national policies and guidelines are used as a framework for developing Maryland CTSO policies and procedures.

Career and Technical Student Organizations

Currently, the Division of Career and College Readiness partners with three CTSOs. The list of Maryland’s CTSO State Directors is included in Appendix A. The bylaws of each CTSO are provided in Appendix B.

Future Business Leaders of America-Phi Beta Lambda, Inc. (FBLA-PBL) inspires and prepares students to become community-minded business leaders in a global society through rigorous career preparation and leadership experiences.

There are four distinct membership divisions in FBLA-PBL. FBLA Middle Level (FBLA-ML) serves members in grades 6-8, FBLA serves members in grades 9-12, PBL serves post-secondary and collegiate members, and Professional Division is made up of adult members.

FFA makes a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agricultural education.

FFA serves members in grades seven through college between the ages of 12 and 21. Adult/collegiate membership is available through FFA alumni and supporters for anyone supporting the mission of FFA.

Skills USA is a partnership of students, teachers and industry working together to ensure America has a skilled workforce. Skills USA helps each student excel. Additional leadership opportunities exist through WorldSkills.

Skills USA provides membership to student members in grades 6-8 in the middle school membership division, 9-12 in the secondary membership division. Skills USA postsecondary/collegiate provides membership to students enrolled in a postsecondary/collegiate membership division. Adult membership is available through Skills USA as a Professional Member.

Maryland Criteria for Recognizing CTSOs

MSDE will only consider new CTSOs if they provide unique experiences and competitions for students that are not already available through Maryland's existing, state supported CTSOs. Documentation must be submitted to MSDE that shows that the CTSO:

1. Has a state director or equivalent that is supported either at MSDE or in coordination through an affiliate organization;
2. Has 501(c)(3) status independent from the parent organization, articles of incorporation, and state by-laws;
3. Has a board of directors and a student state officer team. The board of directors shall include the following positions, at minimum: Chairperson, Vice-Chairperson, Secretary, and Treasurer. A student representative from the state officer team serves as a voting member of the Board, and the State CTSO Director serves as a non-voting, ex-officio member. Board membership should be comprised of individuals representing multiple organizations and businesses;
4. Has a minimum of 10 CTSO chapters, representing at least five school systems. Chapters must develop an annual program of work;
5. Works toward building an infrastructure that allows and encourages students to participate in regional, state, and national competitions; and
6. Meets the criteria outlined in this document, including schools offering CTE programs that align with the CTSO chapter as well as a membership that is composed of CTE students.

Career and Technical Student Organizations Partner Contributions

The successful operation of a Maryland CTSO includes a three-way partnership between the Maryland CTSO Association, the Division of Career and College Readiness (MSDE), and the National CTSO Organization. Each partner contributes to the success of CTE students as they advance their understanding of career opportunities and increase their academic and technical preparation for careers.

The unique contribution of each partner is detailed below.

- The National CTSO Organization - provides guidelines and resources to organizations for competitive events and student leadership development;
- The Division of Career and College Readiness (MSDE) State CTSO Director - provides leadership and guidance to the CTSO Associations through direct, collaborative support for professional development, student leadership and competitive conferences, and coordination with local school system CTE programs; and
- The Maryland CTSO Associations (Board of Directors, Chapter Advisors and student membership) - provide collaborative support in conjunction with the MSDE State CTSO Director through functions and learning experiences for student members, student leadership and skill development related to a student's CTE program of study.

The Maryland State Department of Education holds the charter for each organization and regulates the association. Maryland's CTSO state directors serve on the association boards and represent the organizations in the development of the CTSO policies and procedures. The development of this document was further influenced by best practices identified and promulgated by the following organizations:

1. The American Society of Association Executives, an organization for association management, representing both organizations and individual association professionals and
2. The Association of Fundraising Professionals, an organization focused on professionalism in fundraising.
3. Future Business Leaders of America – Phi Beta Lambda, Inc. (FBLA-PBL) the national parent organization of Maryland FBLA.
4. National FFA Organization, the national parent organization of Maryland FFA
5. Skills USA, Inc., the national parent organization of Skills USA Maryland.

Operation and Oversight Requirements for Career and Technical Student Associations

Operation Requirements

To ensure that all state-approved programs and resources are aligned to the desired outcomes, a recognized Maryland CTSO Association agrees to:

1. File Articles of Incorporation with the Maryland Department of Assessments and Taxation (and the Secretary of State if required by the Maryland Solicitations Act) as a non-profit organization and comply with state regulations regarding operations and financial reporting for Maryland non-profit organizations.
2. Establish a CTSO Association Board of Directors (CTSO Board) to provide guidance for developing the vision and general operating policies and procedures of the organization as well as ensuring the state charter is in accordance with the national bylaws and state requirements. The CTSO Board has a fiduciary responsibility to provide fiscal oversight and management for dues, fundraising, and scholarships along with the State CTSO Director and National CTSO Organization.

The CTSO Board will include members from Maryland business and industry, secondary education as well as post-secondary education representing the career areas corresponding to students' CTE programs of study. The Board, directly, or through a committee structure, agrees to take an active role in membership programming throughout the year. It is recommended that the Board include seven to fifteen members, with at least 50 percent of members representing business, industry, and postsecondary partners. The MSDE CTSO State Director shall serve as a non-voting ex-officio member. The Board shall develop procedures for electing and appointing members as well as procedures for the rotation and removal of board members, with the chair of the CTSO Board of Directors to serve for a maximum of two, three-year consecutive terms. For continuity, these procedures contain a staggered term system (see Bylaws of each CTSO in Appendix B) and to add a hiatus for past members which will allow the Board to appoint new members in an effort to bring new ideas and resources to the Board. CTSO Board of Directors agrees to have board officers which includes at a minimum, a Chairperson, Vice-Chairperson, Secretary, and Treasurer responsible for managing all finances and with a financial review being completed by a third party annually approved by MSDE, with a copy provided to the board officer team, the Board of Directors, and the State CTSO Director on behalf of MSDE.

3. Provide to the MSDE State CTSO Director a copy of the articles of incorporation as a Maryland non-profit organization, a current list of CTSO Board members, and the Board Executive Team contact information.

Register and hold a charter in good standing with the corresponding National CTSO and meet the standards and reporting requirements of that organization. All Maryland CTSO Associations will maintain membership in the corresponding national organization to be recognized by the Division of Career and College Readiness. The Maryland CTSO Board Association is responsible for the collection of membership dues and will file annual financial and membership reports as required by the national association, with a copy submitted to the Division of Career and College Readiness.

4. Coordinate learning experiences among the national organization, local school systems, MSDE State CTSO Director, and the CTSO Board. The CTSO Board and the MSDE State CTSO Director further agree to provide guidance to State Officers, CTSO Teachers/Advisors and business partners in the participation of national events and fundraising activities.

The MSDE State CTSO Director will work in conjunction with the national CTSO Organization to confirm the membership status of participants as a requirement for competition at the state and national levels. The MSDE State CTSO Director will also work with the Board to communicate to the local school systems an annual events calendar including regional and state events.

5. Ensure alignment of CTSO learning experiences with Maryland approved CTE programs of study and local school system requirements for student participation in a CTE program and CTSO activities.

The State CTSO Director will ensure CTSOs aligns with CTE programs of study as co-curricular support for CTE student achievement. The State CTSO Director provides guidelines and support for chapters to prepare students for competition at the national level (in areas related to the student's program of study). Student participation in events sponsored by the Maryland CTSO Association is coordinated through the local school system in accordance with district guidelines. To ensure alignment, each local CTSO chapter must have an advisor who is a faculty member/teacher in an approved CTE program of study related to the CTSO career cluster.

The State CTSO Director coordinates chapter membership through the local school system, including the participation of non-public school students in CTE programs of study, as per the policies of the local school system.

As a student organization, the election of Student Officers and Chapter Leadership are essential components of a CTSO. As students prepare for State and National-level competition, preparation at the Chapter and Regional levels is key to student success. To ensure students are given opportunities for leadership and competition, in alignment with the National CTSO guidelines, at least ten CTSO chapters, representing at least five local school systems for state-level competition.

The MSDE State CTSO Director, working with the Board and local school system CTE Director, will promote membership in CTSOs related to a student’s CTE program of study. The MSDE State CTSO Director will also work with local school systems in providing technical assistance and professional development for CTSO Teachers/Advisors.

6. Each CTSO shall have a State Officer Advisor to manage/guide the work of State Officers, including the annual plan of work and chapter management support and assignments at the state leadership conference.

The CTSO Board provides leadership to the elected student officers through a State Officer Advisor. The state officers are responsible for providing leadership to local chapters and responding to requirements of the State Association and National Organization as requested. Guidelines for CTSO Teachers/Advisors and student participation in school-related learning experiences are determined by the local school system.

Contact information for the State Officer Advisor and current State Officers for each CTSO will be provided to the MSDE State CTSO Director on an annual basis.

Oversight Requirements

In partnership with the Division of Career and College Readiness and the National CTSO, the approved Maryland CTSO Association provides oversight to local CTSO chapters and organizes statewide CTSO events. This section provides guidelines for monitoring local chapters and an overview of statewide events organized by the Division of Career and College Readiness and the State CTSO Association.

1. CTSO Chapter Requirements: The State CTSO Board of Directors, in cooperation with the State CTSO Director, establishes policies and procedures for the operation of local chapters. In alignment with state and national requirements, these will address the following minimum requirements:
 - A. A local chapter must be in good standing with the state association in order to participate in state events and activities, as well as National events. The State CTSO Association in consultation with MSDE establishes guidelines for the chapters.
 - B. Active members shall pay all national, state, and local dues by deadlines determined by each CTSO (where applicable) and be students who are currently or have been enrolled in a course that is part of a state approved CTE program of study aligned with the respective CTSO.
 - C. The student officers of the state CTSO shall be current students (or former students for FFA as required by the National Association) with a GPA of at least 2.5 or higher and must have active membership in the state and national organizations.
 - D. The local CTSO chapters must have a responsible advisor or designated adult approved by the school and/or local school system accompany students to state and/or national conferences.

2. Competitive Events Requirements:

- A. Competitive events shall be aligned to the standards in state approved CTE programs of study to support academic and technical preparation.
- B. A local chapter must have an active and paid membership in the state association in order to participate in state events and activities, as well as National events.
- C. The events offered at the national level are aligned at the state and chapter/regional level and are aligned to Maryland CTE Programs of Study. MSDE supports activities aligned with national CTSO events.
- D. A member shall progress from winning at the chapter/regional level to the state level to the national level. Competition at any of these levels shall not be skipped in order for advancement to the next level, as required by the National CTSO. For events that are offered only at the state level, there are no required qualifying events.
- E. Judges for competitive events shall be individuals from the career field for which they are assigned to judge. They shall possess the expertise and experience necessary to fairly evaluate the competition.

3. On an annual basis, the MSDE State CTSO Director will confirm the list of active chapters, teachers/ advisors, and student officers for each Maryland CTSO. The State CTSO Director, in collaboration with the CTSO Board, will also provide updates for each chapter concerning the national events and specific events to be held at the state conference.

4. Leadership Trainings:

Joint State Officer Training – The MSDE State CTSO Directors are responsible for coordinating leadership training for the student state officer teams representing all state-recognized CTSOs. This annual event prepares state officers for their roles as student leaders and facilitators of chapter development and planning. During this event, all student officers are provided guidance on the development of a state-wide plan of work, chapter management and strategies to support successful chapters. All CTSO state officer teams are required to attend this training. Registration of CTSO state officers is coordinated by the State CTSO Director and the local school system CTE Director. CTSO state officer participation is required for this event.

The CTSO Association provides guidance and supervision to the student officers through the State Officer Advisor, designated by the CTSO Board. In partnership with the MSDE State CTSO Director, the State Officer Advisor also works with these student officers to develop workshop topics for the annual CTSO Fall Conference and other local events.

Joint CTSO Advisor Training – The MSDE State CTSO Director is responsible for providing professional development for all Maryland CTSO Teachers/Advisors. This annual event is held early in the school year to provide an orientation for new advisors, important updates for advisors, and opportunities for CTSO implementation at the chapter level. This event includes specific topic sessions as well as sessions for the respective organizations. Registration of CTSO Teachers/Advisors is coordinated by the MSDE State CTSO Director and the local school system CTE Director. The CTSO Association provides guidance and support to teachers/advisors through sessions conducted by current CTSO members and CTSO Board sessions.

5. Conferences and Meetings:

Fall Conference – At the start of each school year, the CTSO Association and the Division of Career and College Readiness organize a conference for its current and prospective (new) student members. The conference includes workshops facilitated by CTSO officers designed to promote leadership development and serves as a recruitment tool for local chapters. Business partners and college representatives also support and participate in the career development opportunities provided through the fall conference. As a result of this conference, students develop leadership skills, advance their understanding of career opportunities, and learn about CTSO membership opportunities.

The MSDE State CTSO Director provides guidance and support to the State Officer Advisor and the CTSO Board in working with teacher-advisors and business and postsecondary partners to deliver the program.

Spring State Conference – Near the end of each school year, the CTSO Association sponsors a conference for its current, dues-paying student members. The conference provides additional opportunities for career development, leadership skill development and competitive events related to the student’s CTE program of study. Students must compete at the local and/or regional level to qualify for some state competitive events. For events that are offered only at the state level, there are no required qualifying events. The annual state conference also allows the students to conduct the business of their respective organizations, such as the election of officers and the designation of student delegates to the national conference.

While the event is coordinated by the CTSO Association, the MSDE State CTSO Director provides guidance and support to the State Officer Advisor and the CTSO Board in working with teacher-advisors and business/postsecondary partners to deliver the program. Based on state competitive events, students who qualify for national competition are certified by the CTSO State Director to have current dues paid and meet the eligibility to participate. A complete list of students eligible for national competition is forwarded to the national CTSO by the MSDE State CTSO Director.

State Delegation to the National Conference – Each National CTSO holds an annual conference of competitive events, career development events, and career exhibitions. The Maryland delegation to the national conference includes student competitors, workshop attendees, state officers, and delegates as well as teacher-advisors and chaperones as required by the local school system for students participating in off-campus activities. This delegation may also include CTSO’s Board of Directors members.

The national conference is organized by the national CTSO with support from state associations and each MSDE State CTSO Director. The MSDE State CTSO Director serves as a liaison between the national association, state association and the local school systems to facilitate the registration of the Maryland delegation. The chart below shows a listing of Maryland and national CTSO Association events throughout the year. Individual organizations may hold additional events throughout the year. Please visit their respective websites for more information.

Board members are highly encouraged to be actively involved and engaged with the programming of the CTSO. Participation is welcome in event planning and logistics, guidance and coordination with conferences and meetings, and collaboration with stakeholders to produce successful events and ongoing programming.

State Officer Advisor is an additional optional individual who acts in a leadership role for the CTSO officer team. This leadership role provides guidance, supervision, and development for the student leadership team beyond existing support from the MSDE State CTSO Director and CTSO Board of Directors. The State Officer Advisor assists in coordinating activities that include officer involvement and participation for optional and required events. State Officers are asked to assist with program development and delivery including preparation, participation, and facilitation in workshops, conferences, and other events.
