109. This survey is intended to capture instructional staff's feedback on the school climate. Instructional staff are staff whose primary activities directly or adjunctly deal with teaching students in education settings. Teaching may be provided in a school classroom via direct delivery, instructional television, computer-assisted instruction, on-line services, or through correspondence; in another location such as a home or hospital; or in other settings where students are instructed, presented with learning experiences, or participate in extra- or co-curricular activities. Instruction also includes most activities that occur on a regular basis at the school level or for the benefit of the instructional program, such as school media services and guidance for all students, instructional staff development, and school department chairpersons who also teach.

Based on the above definition, how would you classify your role at your school?

- I consider myself to be an instructional staff
- I consider myself to be a non-instructional staff
- Neither
