Student Wholeness Vision

City Schools students are inspired to pursue their passions and reach their potential when schools provide engaging, safe, and supportive environments that foster well-being and meet academic, social, emotional, and physical needs.

Student wholeness is foundational

Challenge

Generations of underinvestment in Baltimore's schools and students has perpetuated a legacy of racism and social and economic injustice. Equity of opportunity and positive outcomes for all students will be possible only if we nurture the health and holistic development of each individual.
